

northlands exposition center

Edmonton, Alberta, Canada

“The floor covering had to stand up to the tremendous amount of foot traffic the center sees.”

Timothy Cartwell, Director of Facilities and Infrastructure, Northlands Exposition Center

The Northlands Exposition Center in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, is a 522,000-square-foot structure that holds exposition, tradeshow and conference events, with catering facilities on-site. Originally a nonprofit agricultural society that was created in 1879 to bring together farmers, ranchers and agriculturalists to share information on what was happening in their industries, Northlands now welcomes more than four million people annually, who visit the 2,500 events held at the organization’s exhibition hall, arena and 5/8-mile track.

Challenge: Implement durable flooring that can withstand the heavy foot traffic common to this busy public exposition center.

Project Requirements: Durability, Low maintenance

Flooring Solution: norament® luxor, norament® serra

Architect/Designer: Cohos Evamy, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada
